

Dhaval Shah Biography

Dhaval Shah is currently the Advisor to the CTO at SABIC. His most recent role was General Manager of Corporate Technology & Innovation leading a global team of 300 scientists and engineers. He has a PhD in Chemical Engineering and joined the company in 2001. Over the years, he has had varying roles ranging from sustainability programs, bio and recycling technologies, new materials research and basic chemicals catalysis and process development. Over the years, he has led efforts with a deep commercialization focus areas such as decarbonization, minimizing plastics waste, specialty agrinutrients, novel material solutions for important growth markets such as automotive, flexible and rigid packaging, consumer electronics, personal hygiene, pipes and foams.